The boat on the Senche.

The stars burnt out in the pale blue air,
And the thin white moon lay withering dry
To tower, and cavern, and rift, and tree
The owl and the bat fled drowsily
Day had kindled the dewy woods,
And the rocks above and the stream below,
And the vapours in their multitudes,
And clothed with light of aery gold
The mists in their eastern caves unrolled

And the Apennine's shroud of summer snow,

by P. B. Shelley
